DAUGHERTY BLAMED IN SMITH DEATH

ROXIE STINSON SAYS ATTORNEY IS RESPONSIBLE

Divorced Wife of Smith Tells of $33,000,000 Profit in Sinclair Stocks

HUSBAND TOLD OF OIL DEAL

Witness Disclaims Denial of Suicide of Former Husband, Jess Smith

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—A hint of an oil deal in which "five men made $33,000,000" in the fall of 1922 was brought before the Daugherty investigating committee Wednesday by Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the attorney general's friend and political lieutenant, Jess Smith.

The witness said Smith had told her of such a transaction, and that she understood it had to do with the stock in the Sinclair interests, which on April 7, 1922, leased Teapot Dome. She added that Smith had said he and the attorney general were "sore" because the men who made the money were friends of theirs but had not let them in on the deal. She could not name them.

WHEELER IS ABSENT
The flitting reference to the $33,000,000 affair was made in the midst of a session which otherwise had lacked much of the momentum. Miss Stinson's previous appearance as a star witness in the inquiry, Senator Wheeler of Montana, the committee's chief counsel, was kept at home with a cold, and the examination for the most part proceeded quite peacefully.

The witness said at the outset that she wished to disclaim any previous intimations in the testimony that she had thought Smith met his death by any hand except his own. She was convinced he killed himself, she said, but believed Mr. Daugherty "morally responsible" for his determination to kill himself.

PROPERTY INCREASED

When he came to Washington, Miss Stinson said, Smith was worth some $138,000, but when he was found dead in the attorney general's department last Memorial day an inventory of his property showed a total of value of $214,000. Asked whether she thought there were other items omitted from the inventory, she said she would rather not reply. She replied in the negative when asked by Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, whether she knew that a note was found in Smith's pocket after his death and never was turned over to the authorities.

A good part of the session was taken up with the reading of letters Smith had written her on the attorney general's department of justice stationery. They referred largely to personal matters.

Asked further about the $33,000,000 deal, Miss Stinson said she would "rather have the things come out on cross examination."

Sensor Jones questioned her attitude of "I am afraid I will fly to pieces," she asserted, "I'm going to say just as little as I can. I'm here because Senator Wheeler came down to my house and told me I had to."

She turned to the letters Smith wrote in February 1923, in which he stated that he was "blue and depressed" while Attorney General Daugherty was "working too much about things at the office."

"This is getting on my nerves," the letter said.

"I am afraid I will fly to pieces. Keep your own counsel and don't you get sick."

With Daugherty, former postmaster general and Republican National chairman and new dictator of the movies, snapped in a characteristic pose as he testified before the Senate investigating committee regarding Sinclair's campaign contributions.

Coolidge Has Lead Of 2,079 Votes In Dakota

Only Scattered Returns Available of Democratic Ticket, But McAdoo Is in Easy Lead.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Calvin Coolidge was holding a slight lead over Senator Efram Johnson for the Republican presidential preference when tabulation of unofficial returns from Tuesday's primary in South Dakota was resumed Wednesday.

This lead, narrowed to 2,079 votes through reports from heavy Johnson counties early Wednesday, was gained largely through the city vote in the southeastern part of the state.

Rural precincts in the central and northeastern parts were expected by Johnson workers to give him majorities and cut deeper into the Coolidge lead.

Coolidge workers, answering the claim of Johnson managers that the Californian had won by 10,000 majority, insisted the western part of the state and more complete returns from the southeastern section would enable the president to hold his lead.

Meanwhile the majority of Governor W. H. McMaster over Senator Thomas Sterling for the Republican senatorial nomination had grown to more than 3,400 early Wednesday, apparently assuring the governor's nomination which was claimed by the Sioux Falls Press.

On the Democratic ticket only scattered and incomplete returns were available but the state headquarters of the party at Huron, backing the majority column filings, declared William G. McAdoo had obtained the presidential endorsement.

POLICE THWART PLOT TO ROB PASSENGER TRAIN

By Associated Press
Pittsburg — A plot to hold up a Pennsylvania passenger train at the Beck's Run bridge near Homestead, a suburb Wednesday afternoon, was thwarted by city and county detectives. Edward J. Brophy, superintendent of the Pittsburg police and five city detectives were injured, three seriously when they used their automobile to stop a machine occupied by one of the bandits. Both automobiles were wrecked.

SENATE OMMITS MAIN CLAUSE FROM TAX BILL

Provision Relating to Earned Incomes Turned Down by Finance Board

FAVOR WEALTHY INVESTOR

Secretary Agrees Anything Below $5,000 Should Be Earned Income

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington — The Mellon plan has not been inserted in the revenue bill by the Senate Finance committee as was stated in some published reports Monday night. Instead, one of the principal recommendations made by the secretary of the treasury has been temporarily, at least, turned down. It relates to earned incomes and affects more individuals than the other parts of the Mellon plan which were proved.

What the senate finance committee did by a vote of 8 to 7 was to adopt the Mellon rates on the surtaxes applying a 25 per cent schedule as a maximum instead of the longworth bill passed by the house, providing for a 37 1/2 per cent maximum.

But the Mellon plan itself as originally recommended was a carefully balanced scheme. Wealth was to be given certain reductions, but coupled with those were reductions to the taxpayers of small income. The senate finance committee, however, wanted but has deprived the man of small income who earns his livelihood without capital and with only the energy of his hands or his mind the concessions proposed by Secretary Mellon.

IGNORES SUGGESTION

The house ignored the Mellon recommendation for a flat 25 per cent reduction on all earned incomes and said it should apply only to incomes below $20,000 a year. The Senate Finance committee, despite Mr. Mellon's advice, has cut it still further to $10,000.

"There is, of course, absolutely no reason," Mr. Mellon told the Senate Finance committee for a $20,000 limitation on earned income. If the distinction between unearned income and earned income is good, it is good in every bracket. If the tax on unearned incomes in excess of $20,000 is at the present rate, then the same rate is too high for earned incomes.

Stated in another way, what Mr. Mellon means was that a man who earned $20,000 as a doctor, lawyer, salesman, business executive, musician, composer, inventor or any profession in which brains are the sole capital used he should not be in the same position as a man of inherited or accumulated capital who clips investments and coupons and gets an income of $20,000.

People in the latter class, for instance, have approximately $350,000 of capital, which at 6 per cent earns for them about $21,000 a year. They pay the same rate of taxes as the professional man yet when he is sick his income stops and when he dies he cannot bequeath his law practice or his medical ability to another, though the man with the capital goes away from his place of business and spends a life of leisure and still draws the same income. He can bequeath it to another person when he dies. Technically he doesn't earn his income in the same sense as the person who works with his mind or his hands.

Mr. Mellon says that if the senate thinks the rate of taxation for a man of $20,000 income should be fixed at a certain rate then the man with the other kind of income should not have the same advantage.

Mr. Mellon incidentally has agreed that all income below $5,000 should be considered as "earned" so that widows and orphans and others who may be unable to earn a livelihood shall not be penalized. Five thousand dollars is the average income on an estate of approximately $85,000.

The house bill further complicated matters by providing that the definition of "earned income" should include in cases where the income is the result of the use of capital in connection with personal services, and amount representing a reasonable salary for personal services rendered. Mr. Mellon criticizes that provision.

The Senate Finance committee's action is, of course, final and there are indications that the whole matter of rates will be opened up again before the revenue bill is reported. Persons who earn their incomes, however, have thus far been given less favorable treatment by the house than Secretary Mellon recommended and the senate committee has carried the discrimination against earned incomes still further.

Bergdoll On Way To Face Music, Report

By Associated Press
Berlin — Grover C. Bergdoll was believed Wednesday to be on the first stage of his return to the United States to "face the music" for his evasion of military service during the World war.

He left Eberbach Tuesday, for an unknown destination carrying considerable luggage, after making preparations which indicated he did not contemplate returning. Friends stated the Badenese government which was not keen to retain him as a resident, had issued a certificate of American citizenship enabling him to cross the frontier.

MEASURE WILL CUT VETS BUREAU FUND

Appropriation Reported to House is $241,741 Less Than Budget Estimate

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—A sharp reduction in expenditures by the Veterans bureau, the Shipping board and several other government agencies is proposed in the independent office appropriation bill reported Wednesday to the house. The measure carries $38,496,890 or $103,324,466 less than last year's appropriations, and $241,741 less than budget estimates.

Of the total $48,065,000 would go to the Veterans bureau, a reduction of $8,388,086 under a year ago. The Shipping board and Emergency Fleet corporation would be allotted $30,344,000 or $20,067,500 less than the bill carried.

The bill provides $15,000 for President Coolidge's salary, $15,000 for his traveling expenses, $93,520 for salaries and $37,000 for contingent expenses in the executive office and $55,540 for the pay of the White House police.

JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL IS BURNED

By Associated Press
Jefferson — Jefferson high school was destroyed by a fire of unknown origin which started at 3 A. M. Wednesday morning. At 9 o'clock the fire was still smoldering. The loss is estimated at $200,000, a third of which was covered by insurance.

The Ft. Atkinson fire department was called when it was seen that the local fire fighters could not cope with the blaze. The efforts of the two companies failed to get the fire under control and in a short time the four-story brick building was enveloped in flames.

The school, on a high hill in the western part of the city, was built in 1872. It had been partially destroyed by fire 15 years ago at which time it was repaired and an addition built.

Superintendent Earl C. Macdonald, Arthur Vincent of faculty, and several high school boys succeeded in saving some of the band instruments in the basement of the building. The band had expected to go to Milwaukee Friday for a parade. Whether this will be possible or not is not known.

The school board will meet Wednesday to determine how the work of the high school can be continued through the remaining two months of the school year.

HOUSE COMMITTEE FAVORS CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Favorable report of a resolution proposing a child labor amendment to the constitution was ordered Wednesday by the house judiciary committee.

The committee approved without change the resolution introduced by Representative Foster, Republican, Ohio. Republican leaders have given assurance that the house will have an opportunity to vote on the question at an early date.

JAPAN WILL CHANGE HER TARIFF POLICY

Tokio—An adjustment of Japan's tariff policy will be made shortly, the government announced Wednesday simultaneously with the official announcement of restoration of tariff duties on commodities exempted from import taxes immediately after the earthquake last fall. The restoration is effective April 1.

POLICE CHIEF SUSPENDED IN CANDLER CASE

Atlanta Officer Ousted by Unanimous Vote of Council Board

By Associated Press
Atlanta, Ga. — Night Chief of Police E. L. Jett Wednesday occupied Chief of Police James L. Beavers' accustomed place as head of the Atlanta police department, pending the disposition of charges of violations of rules governing the conduct of his office and of conduct unbecoming an officer preferred against Chief Beavers at a meeting of the police committee of the city council Tuesday night. Chief Beavers was suspended by unanimous vote of the council committee.

The main charge against Chief Beavers, that he violated the rule of the police department which provides that "no member of the force will be permitted to work on divorce cases, nor will any member of the department knowingly be allowed to work on cases that will lead up to divorce proceedings," mentioned no names, but it was charged that the violation occurred "on or about Feb. 9," the date of the arrest of Mrs. Asa G. Chandler, Sr., young wife of Asa G. Chandler, Sr., Atlanta soft drink king, in an apartment in company with W. J. Stoddard and G. W. Keeling, two Atlanta businessmen.

THREE KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

Duluth, Minn.—Two persons were killed outright and a third died an hour later as the result of a collision here Wednesday between a Duluth and Iron Range passenger train and an automobile at a street crossing. W. S. Kempton and his son John, a high school student, were instantly killed and Edward Gjyllenberg, also a high school student and the third occupant of the car, died at a hospital. A heavy fog obscured the approaching train, according to reports received by the coroner.

ELEVATOR PROPRIETOR FOUND DEAD; SUICIDE

Pope Invests American Prelates With Insignia

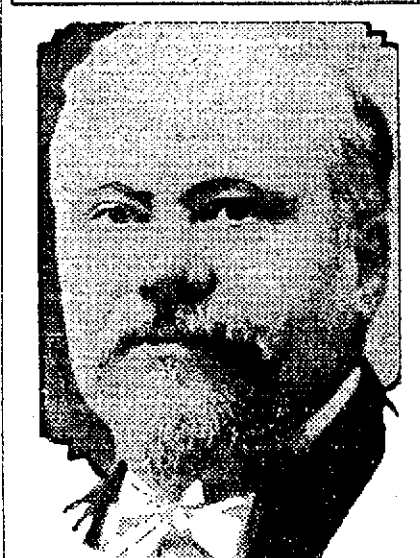

Rome — Before an assemblage of prelates and laity, among them a large representation of Americans, Cardinal Hayes of New York and Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, regalia were bestowed Wednesday as cardinals at the hands of Pope Pius in the hall of the consistory Wednesday afternoon.

Though short and simple, the ceremony was full of impressive solemnity. More than 400 persons assembled in the historic hall promptly at 5 o'clock, the ringing of bells announcing that the pope was ready to leave his apartments for the hall. He entered surrounded by the papal household and Swiss guards and the solemn procession moved slowly toward the throne, his holiness bestowing the benediction to the right and left on the assemblage which knelt in homage as he passed.

The American prelates were waiting in the Matilda chapel and at the signal, accompanied by their train-bearers, they started toward the consistory hall. At the entrance they were announced, Cardinal Mundelein first, because of his seniority. They proceeded slowly toward the throne and in turn performed the ceremony of homage. Then they took their places in specially prepared chairs at the foot of the throne.

Pensions Bill Causes Cabinet To Quit Posts

Resigns

Raymond Poincaré, prime minister of France, Wednesday offered his resignation to President Millerand after the Chamber of Deputies failed to agree with his recommendations on a military and civil pensions bill.

The fall of the cabinet after it had survived a long and arduous struggle in putting through parliament its program of heavily increased taxation to balance the budget, during which it was constantly obliged to pose the question of confidence, fell Wednesday morning on a comparatively insignificant issue.

FIGHT ON PENSIONS

The chamber was considering a revision of the civil and military pensions, with only a couple of hundred members present. Socialist Deputy Bouyssou demanded that the measures under consideration be referred back to the finance committee to be considered with the senate bills on the same question.

Finance Minister Delasteyrie, in charge of measures, objected to this. He pointed out that the senate bills involved a heavier outlay than those in the chamber.

Premier Poincaré was not present, but the financial minister declared himself obliged in this way to the economy policy of the government to make the question one of confidence.

VIGOROUS FOREIGN POLICY

The Poincaré ministry which thus comes to an end, has held power since January 1922—its slightly more than two years of life covering a most momentous period of post-war history. Taking up the reins of government on a program of a more vigorous foreign policy than had been followed by his predecessor, M. Briand, Premier Poincaré adopted an energetic attitude on the question of reparation payments by Germany and when the year 1922 had gone by without any satisfactory adjustment being reached, the Poincaré government, in January of last year, decided upon the seizure of "pledges" from Germany.

The occupation of the Ruhr valley by joint action of France and Belgium followed. Great Britain was not in sympathy with this move and the differences between the two nations on this and other questions relating to reparations led to something of a rift in the entente which only lately has seemed about to be bridged over through negotiations between the MacDonald government and the Poincaré ministry.

The fall of the government comes just on the eve of the expected presentation by the Dawes expert committee of its report for the reparation committee on Germany's financial and economic status, and the committee's anticipated presentation of a program which it has been hoped would lead to an adjustment of the reparation question, solve the Ruhr difficulty, start Germany on a path of economic soundness and eventually bring about renewed economic stability in Europe.

A communique gave the premier's letter of resignation as follows:

"Mr. President: "The government having been put in a minority in the chamber in a vote on the bill concerning pensions, I have the honor to present to you my resignation of the cabinet."

The vote in the chamber was upon referring back to the finance committee the general bill on civil and military pensions, to which various amendments had been offered, notably one concerning certain categories of workmen's old age allowances.

Finance Minister Delasteyrie took the position that the proposed amendments involved too heavy an expenditure and he thus demanded a vote of confidence.

DRAINAGE PLAN BENEFITS 2,260 ACRES ON FARMS

Hearing in Deer Creek Project
Is Adjourned by Board to April 3

Objections to the establishment of a drainage district above the village of Bear Creek in the town of Deer Creek and a portion of Waupaca were heard by Outagamie county drainage board at a meeting in county court Tuesday. The hearing was adjourned to April 3, when several other land owners will be given opportunity to present their objections.

Representatives of the Chicago and Northwestern railway were present because it will be necessary for the proposed drainage ditch to pass beneath its tracks. An adjustment satisfactory to the company and the board was reached concerning its easement for this work. Only a few other objections were offered.

BENEFITS LARGE TRACT
Farmers owning 2,260 acres of land will be benefited by the establishment of this new drainage district. It is said. Most of the land adjacent to the proposed ditch now is under cultivation but is useless for crops when the water is high. Construction of the trench practically assures its continuous use.

A more pronounced demand came for this outlet when a district was established in Waupaca-co further up Bear Creek from the proposed one. Since then there has been an increased flow of water through Bear Creek and more flooding in the spring season. E. L. McRann, whose farm is furthest up the creek in the new district, suffered perhaps the most from high water and it was largely through his efforts that farmers joined to find a remedy.

DRAINS INTO WOLF
The principal ditch through the affected land will be about three and a half miles long and will carry the water into Bear Creek, from where it flows into Wolf river. It will use the creek bed part of the way where the banks are high. There is a fall of about 20 feet in the land level over the stretch which the ditch will traverse, insuring a good natural flow. Benefits to the land because of this improvement are fixed at $38,000 and the cost of doing the work is estimated at $19,000 by drainage engineers. Bids probably will be asked in a few days so the board will have exact cost figures the next time it meets.

Nine-hundred acres of the drained area lies in Waupaca-co and 1,360 acres in Deer Creek and Outagamie-co. One of the land within this district are F. M. Hyde, J. N. Bechard, A. Schmitz, C. M. KIMBERLY PUPILS STUDY LIVES OF GREAT MEN

Special to Post-Crescent
Kimberly—Students of the public school are taking up the study of lives of great men of the country. This course will familiarize the student with men of character and give the growing mind the idea of following their example, according to Mr. Jilson, principal.

Outside reading also has been outlined for the pupils. They must read at least one book on the subjects of description, fiction, travel, geography, history and adventure, completing the list before the close of the school year.

About 20 pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of Holy Name school have received Palmer diplomas for excellence in writing.

INTERPRETER OF NEGRO THEMES TALKS HERE

Clement Woods, well known short story writer and poet of Negro themes talked to the Appleton Teachers association about the folk lore of the Negro for more than two hours. He was the speaker at the regular meeting of the organization at Hotel Northern on Tuesday evening.

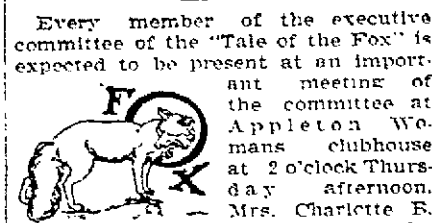

Mr. Woods pointed to the development of jazz music, Negro spirituals and Negro folk lore as distinctive American contributions to civilization. He showed that these contributions from the black race are greater in number and power than the distinct accomplishments of any other race in America. He illustrated his points about the value of the Negro contributions to civilization with references to stories, songs and poems as well as to the achievements of individuals.

COURT IN NIGHT SESSION BUT CASE IS SETTLED

A special night session of circuit court was called by Judge Edgar V. Werner Tuesday evening for trial of the case of C. G. Zolman company vs. Kanten Brothers, proprietor of an Appleton shoe store. The case was scheduled for the day, and a night session was called, as a convenience for a representative of the St. Paul shoe manufacturers, who wished to be on his way. The plaintiff asked for a judgment of more than $300 on an unpaid order, which had not been settled on account of alleged defects in the shoes. The case was settled without trial, however.

Cooney Writes Of Troubles Of Doctor On Witness Stand

In the February number of Marquette Law Review is an article by Dr. E. W. Cooney of Appleton which is attracting a great deal of attention in the legal and medical professions. It is entitled, "Troubles of the Medical Witness," and deals with expert testimony in all of its phases. "These two professions," says Dr. Cooney, "do not seem to understand each other in their work to help their fellow men, or possibly the method employed is at fault. Expert medical testimony was primarily regarded with great respect and looked upon as the scientific conclusions of one well qualified to give these by impartially interpreting the facts presented."

SEES BIG CHANGE
"A great change has gradually taken place but an enviable reputation for the medical expert. Many reasons might be given for this change. At the present time, no matter how learned or honest a medical witness may be, he is no longer able to speak with the voice of the whole profession relative to the many phases that this field involves."

"An attempt is often made on the part of the medical witness to rise to a situation for which he is not prepared, with the result, naturally to be expected, that his conclusions, though honest, lead to the disrepute and discredit into which medical testimony has gradually fallen."

MUST BE PREPARED
"It is rarely possible for a medical witness to testify with justice to himself without proper preparation, even though he be unquestionably competent in practicing his profession. The competent treatment of disease or injury and the answering of academic questions relating thereto are widely separated subjects."

"One of the most fatal errors into which the medical investigator can fall is the attempt to preconceive theory. This attempt invariably leads to the failure to search for and observe indications which might possibly lead to conclusions entirely at variance with the results that might be expected from the history of the case."

"One of the greatest difficulties encountered by the medical witness, and especially one of but limited experience is the careful differentiation between the conclusions he arrives at from the observation of the facts and the moral or sentimental effect which such testimony may have."

MUST GIVE REASONS
"The witness must always be prepared to give reasons for all opinions expressed, and should never be allowed to have doubts upon certain points to be grudgingly admitted under cross examination by opposing counsel."

"The medical witness must ever

OHLS SPEAKS TO UNION LABOR AT MEETING TONIGHT

General Massmeeting Will Be Held in Trades and Labor Hall

A record breaking crowd is expected at the regular meeting of the Trades and Labor council in Trades and Labor hall Wednesday evening. The council has arranged for a general massmeeting of all union men and a smoker following.

Henry Ohl, Jr. state president of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, will be the guest of Appleton organized labor Wednesday evening. He will speak on various phases of the labor movement. Mr. Ohl was until last year state organizer, but through the efforts of Appleton delegates, this office was also made that of president.

One of the chief purposes of the meeting is to perfect the organization of a building trades section of the Trades and Labor council to consist of carpenters, bricklayers, plasterers, plumbers, members and all the other building crafts.

After the business meeting a social period consisting of card playing, refreshments and smoking will be enjoyed.

TRACTION CO. BUYS INTERCITY BUS CO.

W. T. L. H. & P. Co. Gives 15-Minute Service Between Appleton and Neenah

The Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. Wednesday announced that it has acquired controlling interest in the Intercity Bus Co., Inc., from O. M. Lindquist and will operate the busses in cooperation with the electric interurban lines to provide 15 minute service between Appleton, Neenah and Menasha. Busses will leave Appleton on the hour while electric cars leave these cities on the quarter-hour.

Lindquist will operate the busses for the traction company. A. K. Ellis, general manager of the traction company, has announced.

KELLER TALKS IN 5TH WARD THURSDAY

Gustave Keller, candidate for mayor, will give the second of his series of addresses at Washington school in the Fifth ward, at 8 o'clock Thursday night. He fired the opening gun in an address at the Fourth ward school on Tuesday evening. It is probable Mr. Keller will give addresses in the First and Third wards.

John Goodland, also a candidate for mayor, declared Wednesday that he is not contemplating any public meetings.

BUILDING PERMITS

The greatest amount of construction ever authorized on one day since the establishment of the building inspection bureau last year was certified Wednesday. The high amount of $546,793 was realized through the proposed construction of Appleton's two junior high schools.

Building permits for these two structures were issued by the city building inspector upon receipt of the indorsement of the plans by the state industrial commission. The combined cost of the buildings is $542,863, the east end school costing $272,410, and the west end school $270,453. J. C. Nelson & Son of Minneapolis are general contractors for the former school, and Hoennner-Barrett Co., Eau Claire, for the latter school.

Total cost estimates of all construction authorized to date now is $763,953. Fifty-one permits have been granted since the first of the year. Wednesday a permit for a new residence was granted. It was the twelfth of the season.

The six latest permits issued are as follows:

- John M. Forster, Brewster-st, residence.
- C. Miller, College-ave, sign board.
- Mrs. S. N. Fish, 1091 Second-st, porch.
- City of Appleton, East end junior high school, Brewster and Circle-sts.
- City of Appleton, West end junior high school, State-rd and Virginia-st.

NEW POSTOFFICE IS NAMED LAND O' LAKES

"Land o' Lakes" is the new and unique name authorized by the United States postal department for the postoffice at State Line, a little village and railroad station on the state line of Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan, according to word received at the Appleton postoffice.

The postoffice is located on the Wisconsin side, but the railroad station "State Line," is on the Michigan side, it having been moved across the line some time ago as a result of adverse railroad legislation on the part of the Badger state.

"Land o' Lakes" is a jumping-off place for a number of summer resorts in the Vilas-co tourist paradise. It is on a branch line of the Chicago and Northwestern railway between Monroe, Wis., and Watersmeet, Mich.

Eugene Knudty of Milwaukee was in Appleton on Tuesday and Wednesday on business.

BOOZE SEIZED IN FOUR RAIDS IN FOND DU LAC

Fond du Lac — Samuel Greenlaw was the first victim to fall into the snares of state prohibition agents, who, with Detectives Flanders and Costgrove and Motor Officer George Launders, staged a series of raids in this city Tuesday.

The officers swooped down upon the Greenlaw place armed with a search warrant issued by Judge H. M. Feltenz. A search of the premises resulted in the finding of a complete still, 50 gallons of moonshine and a large quantity of mash. The still was brought to police headquarters. A raid was made Monday night on a saloon at North Fond du Lac but nothing was found.

At 2:30 p. m. the raiding party returned to the station, having in custody Louis Carpathian, proprietor of a soft drink parlor. A search of this place resulted, it is said, in five gallons of moon found hidden in the attic. Fred Rose was arrested in the third raid Tuesday afternoon. It is alleged that five quarts of moon were found at his place.

WINTER RESORTS ARE CROWDED, ZUEHLKE SAYS

B. J. Zuehlke, who has returned from a two weeks' visit to Palm Beach and Miami, Fla., says those winter resorts are crowded with tourists from all over the world. The hotels have more business than they can handle and the principal streets are congested the greater part of the time. Among the visitors are many California people, particularly from Los Angeles.

Mr. Zuehlke says northern cities are out-classed by southern cities in respect to hotels. Many cities with populations less than 20,000 have hotels costing more than one and one-half million dollars and they are crowded the greater part of the year, he said.

C. J. Boynton goes to Chicago Thursday to meet Mrs. Boynton, who is returning from Fort Wayne, Ind., where she spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Stanley Hamilton.

USE SULPHUR TO HEAL YOUR SKIN

Broken Out Skin and Itching Eczema Helped Over Night

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment. It declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little mentho-sulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight the Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream. adv.

CREDIT GRANTORS PLAN ASSOCIATION

Meeting Will Be Called Soon As Followup to Milwaukee Men's Talks

Credit managers and credit clerks of Appleton retail stores will hold a meeting to consider organization of a credit association here, according to plans of the retail division of the chamber of commerce.

This movement grew out of the get-together dinner of merchants at Vermeulen's Tuesday evening, where three Milwaukee credit men suggested a local branch of the Wisconsin Retail Credit Men's association.

The purpose of the local organization will be to work uniformly to weed out worthless accounts and educate the members in the best methods of handling the applicant for credit and the patron who abuses it.

Growing percentage of business done on credit makes organization and expert methods necessary, speakers told the merchants.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause — Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c. adv.

HAYS AND SINCLAIR
The story that 75,000 shares of oil stock were used to pay the deficit of the Republican National committee is ridiculous. About 16,000 contributions from nearly every state of the Union made up the amount. It took three long years of strenuous effort on the part of our financial organization to wipe out the indebtedness, and there was no contribution of oil stock or any money of any kind—John T. Adams, Chairman, Republican National Committee in an interview in the New York Times.

Hardly was this interview in cold print than Will H. Hays, former chairman of the Republican National committee, took the witness stand in the oil investigation and testified that at his solicitation Sinclair contributed $75,000 to help wipe out the deficit referred to by Mr. Adams. It would appear from this that there was more "easy money" afloat than Mr. Adams was willing to admit. In fact, we should say it was decidedly easy money. Of course, Sinclair was under obligations to the Republican party, because the new administration had given him leases for Teapot Dome, on which he expected to make a huge cleanup. All Mr. Adams had to do to find out there was easy money in Sinclair's pocket was to seek a little confidential information from Albert Fall. Albert was on to the ropes quite early in the game, and it would have been only fair of him to tip the committee off. At that we think the committee let Sinclair off rather lightly.

Mr. Hays gave other testimony equally interesting, to wit, that he and his brother had a "purely personal" transaction in bonds with Sinclair, and that while he was postmaster-general in the Harding administration the law firm of Hays and Hays of Sullivan, Indiana, of which his brother was a member, was counsel for Sinclair in Indiana. Perhaps it was a fortunate thing for Mr. Hays that the moving picture industry came along and snatched him out of the cabinet before Sinclair fully appraised his value. otherwise he might today be on the staff of the oil king and under a cloud personally. However, the contribution of Sinclair to the Republican campaign fund is the thing of importance now. It adds another spout to the many streams that are drenching the poor, oledephant. Four departments of the Harding administration now have their linen out on the washline. It gives the people a clear view of the workings of politics and favor-seeking interests. It is a monument to the skill and beneficence of the "best minds" that famous aggregation that took charge of the Harding administration from the day the nomination was agreed upon.

SOME PREFER WHITEWASHING
Addressing the Amherst Alumni association of Boston, Speaker Gillette of the house of representatives took occasion to impugn the motives and insinuate against the integrity of the members of the senate public lands committee who have been active in exposing graft. Though he did not mention names, there could be no doubt as to which senators he criticized. The people agree with Mr. Gillette that most men in public office are honest and that misfeasance and malfeasance are the exception. The people have, as they should have, due respect for President Coolidge, both officially and personally.

The president's misfortune is not the exposure of graft, for doubtless he is glad that the public service is being purified. His misfortune is that political leaders, like Mr. Gillette, persist in condemning public servants of the character and courage of Senator Walsh. The sort of talk which Mr. Gillette made in Washington does the president no good. On the contrary, it might injure the president, especially in territory in which the Progressives are strong.

"It" (the senate), he said "still has wise statesmen, but they are not the ones who of late have filled the columns of the Record. There have recently come into prominence new types which seem to revel in personalities, which never grapple with policies, but find delight in circulating abuse and besmirching reputations."

Mr. Gillette's constituents should ask him whether he means to imply by these remarks that he does not approve of the work done by the senate public lands committee. Mistrust which voters have of public servants is due precisely to the position taken by Mr. Gillette. The public suspects that too many public officers are merely politicians or partisans, ready to explain away any unfavorable incident or to cover up crookedness. It knows the present scandal at Washington would have been suppressed had it not been for the service and determination of Senator Walsh.

EDUCATION IN RUSSIA
A clear insight to the real situation which prevails in Russia is given by Dr. E. O. Holland, president of Washington State college, Pullman, Wash., who has returned to the United States after several months' survey of existing conditions in Europe. His opinions are drawn in outline. The 130,000,000 peasants wish to be let alone, he observes, to raise their crops and sell their products as they please and wherever and at whatever prices suit them. The farmers are not communist, but capitalistic, as they believe that they are entitled to own what they earn.

But Mr. Holland notes that ninety-five per cent of the 130,000,000 peasants are uneducated. The outlook for improvement in this regard seems to be brightened by the fact that forty per cent of the children are attending school, and the soviet government hopes to be able to adopt a policy of compulsory education in three years.

The prospect for dispelling the farmer's ignorance by the spread of knowledge is not as flattering as it looks. As the soviet government directs education, it aims to teach communism. Anything bearing on American and similar forms of representative government is prohibited in the courses, while radical socialism is taught. In the second place, as communism is opposed to individualism and capitalism the economics of socialism displace the broader principles of modern economics.

The soviet designs to disseminate communist theories among the children of the peasantry under the guise of fostering education. It cannot roughly and suddenly attempt to take over the farm lands and make the producers slaves of the state, for the farmers feel they are property owners, who deserve to have and to hold the fruits of their labor; so it schemes to educate the children to believe in communism.

The death of Lenin leaves the soviet without a leader, and there is some prospect that rivalry will breed dissension in the communist ranks, and that the soviet will disintegrate. But whether it does or not, the application of communism to Russian land is beset with mountainous obstacles. The bolsheviks started out to confiscate the products of the soil, and were promptly met by a peasant rebellion. Farmers would not raise crops unless they were permitted to own them. As a result Russia underwent a terrible famine, for the farmers stopped producing except for their immediate needs.

Whether the peasants can be "educated" to believe in communism is doubtful. This kind of propaganda succeeds chiefly among those who have nothing or little in their possession, and who are unwilling to make an effort to secure something. Economic freedom in the widest sense is open to the Russian farmers if they will stand hard and fast for their rights, and Russia can never attain great prosperity or commercial importance, such as her resources invite, unless she develops agriculture on a large scale. This development cannot take place under communism.

Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

TELL IT NOT IN GATH
"Once it was a little tale de mer, as the French say, even to mention stomachs, but now it requires a medical specialist to think of anything they don't talk about in polite society. I can remember when I first began to write and talk to mixed audiences I had to censor my stuff carefully. Nowadays I find even my raw material is considered pretty tame by contrast with the line dispensed by some young women magazine writers.
Here is an appeal from a "mere woman" who implores members of her sex who have "gone under the knife" to forget about it at least when visiting their friends, for she protests, "I and many others have been compelled to sit and listen for hours to our ailing friends discuss their operations. I know by heart what each wonderful surgeon said about the case and how near unto death each of my post-operative acquaintances has been. . . . I sometimes wonder if there are any healthy, normal women left. Really it seems that women who sit around all day playing cards or devote their lives to jazz dancing have but one topic of conversation, and that is the exploitation of their personal ailments and organs. If they are the same at home I should think the average husband would prefer to spend his evenings and holidays at the dispensary or the morgue."
Still and all, if the nurse who takes care of you does her stuff and the surgeon plays his role of miracle man, there's considerable satisfaction in telling the world that yours was the worst case they'd ever had, and then it's necessary to clinch your claim, yanking the bottle out from your pocket with the remains of the organ embalmed in alcohol. Nowadays, having an operation is like getting an amputable.

To attribute present ill health to a past operation is about as reasonable as it would be to ascribe manifestations of Bright's disease, cancer or arteriosclerosis to "your age," as too many badly educated women do.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Homemade Wine
To settle an argument will you give me your opinion of homemade wines, elderberry and raisin, for instance, made from the fresh fruit, boiled, juice strained and sugar and water added, then allowed to ferment for eight or ten days? Is this healthful or is it harmful? (Mrs. J. M. C.)
Answer.—If taken before the fermentation sets in it is healthful, but after it has fermented it becomes more or less poisonous. People who make and drink such wine say it has some "kick." It is a poor nervous system that needs to be kicked. The pernicious practice in some households of feeding children, even young infants, a few spoonfuls of such wine, is probably responsible for some deplorable cases of alcoholism and drug habit when such children live long enough to go and get the stuff themselves.

Better Informed
How do you reconcile the advice in your Autobiography, to feed the baby at intervals of three hours, with your advice in your letter on feeding, to feed the baby at intervals of two and one-half hours? (Mrs. C. E. K.)
Answer.—Well, when I wrote the Autobiography it was longer since I had a baby than it was when I wrote the letter. In the meantime I had learned more about babies, too. You know a doctor has to keep studying all the time. But now that we've got the baby trained down to a three hour schedule, we'll leave it at that until a new model is introduced in Babylon. The two and one-half hour schedule was just a wee trifle old fashioned even when I recommended it.
Sweet Nitro
I have considerable pain in my back and hips. If I take a teaspoonful of sweet spirits of nitre every day for four or five days in a little water I get relief. Is it all right to take this or is it injurious? I am 82 years old. (M. N. B.)
Answer.—It is all right to take sweet spirits of nitre if it gives you any relief.

LOOKING BACKWARD
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Wednesday, March 29, 1899.
J. W. Thibault returned from a several days' visit at Chicago.
Harry Pratt was at Stevens Point the day previous, where he took a railway mail service examination.
Mrs. C. H. Perry of Minneapolis was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Gintz.
L. D. Smith, local agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, returned from a several days' visit to Ontonagon, Mich., where he owned a quarter section of land.
A team belonging to S. McDonald became frightened at a switch engine at the Northwestern depot and ran away, demolishing the sleigh to which it was attached.
Frank Calmes, Sr., was called to Buffalo, N. Y., by the death of his mother.
Members of Appleton Light Infantry were to give their annual Easter ball at the armory the following Monday evening. Maeder's orchestra was to furnish music.
Seed potatoes were scarce and farmers of the county were endeavoring to secure a supply.
Extra creamery butter was selling at 21 cents on the Chicago market; eggs were 12 cents per dozen; turkeys, 9 to 13 cents per pound; and potatoes, 63 cents per bushel.
The Mayville Republican caucus nominated former Congressman Sauerherring for mayor.
C. M. Stafford of Sault Ste. Marie was in Appleton on pulpwood business.

TEN YEARS AGO
Wednesday, March 23, 1914.
Attorney Paul J. Winter of Shawano was a visitor at the courthouse.
Frank Koehler of Hortonville was in the city on business.
William F. Kamps and Walter Joyce left for Milwaukee on business.
Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jones returned from a month's trip to the Pacific coast.
Looktenders received official notice that navigation on Fox River would open April 1.
J. T. Reeve circle, ladies of the C. A. R., entertained at a reception last Tuesday evening at the Knights of Pythias hall. Guests were present from Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh and Green Bay.
Edward Erdmann, formerly of Appleton, and Miss Sarah Wiegand of Milwaukee were married the day previous.
More than 100 homes were quarantined during the smallpox epidemic which had about run its course.
Mabel Westphal, who submitted to an operation for appendicitis at St. Elizabeth hospital, returned to her home.
Coach Mark Catlin gave a talk at the college chapel in behalf of the basketball tournament.
Peter Broehl of Manitowish, formerly of Appleton, resigned his position as steward of the Elks club in that city to engage in the restaurant business.

Now is the time that hats thrown into the ring by political candidates will receive quite a battling before they are recovered by their owners, we fear.

No, Evangeline, the Countess of Kimberly who takes her prize miniature dog to the barber shop to have its claws manicured occasionally, has no castle on the Fox river.

Here's a hint for newcomers in Appleton: If you are lonely and find it hard to get acquainted here, say you are going to buy a new car. At once you will have dozens of persons calling on you and many of them taking you out for rides.

Everybody knows the story of the satyr who lost faith in humans because they blew on their hands to keep them warm and blew their soup to cool it. But that poor devil never became acquainted with a Wisconsin summer or winter. Everybody knows what its summer is as hot as and what its winter is as cold as.

Sign in window of a Fond du Lac shoeshop reads: "Let us cover your satin heels for you."

Here's a Hot Story
Good news for home folks! Summer, which has been wintering down south has broken down with heat and humidity and seriously thinking of returning to Appleton on or about June 21 to recuperate. One reason for the breakdown was because she was sworn at so much.

ROLLO—Isn't it queer when you see a lady walking down the street with a large handbag, and you hear chickens chirping, and you can't imagine where they are?

According to our best knowledge of numismatics, Harry, chickens don't chirp. They peep—especially the young ones when hiding behind their mamma's.

ROLLO.

One Worker In 75 Is Employee Of Government
(Harvey Ferguson, in The American Mercury.)
The government job is very nearly the ideal job for the young fellow who wants above all to be sure of an easy living, made in a rented way. All of the posts under Uncle Sam, except a few held mostly by negroes, are white collar jobs with high-sounding titles. The salaries are fixed by law and guaranteed by the government.

A federal employee cannot be dismissed except for the rarest kind of incompetence or misconduct, and in case of trouble with his superiors he can always appeal to his congressman to the civil service commission or to the Federal Employees' union. When he is superannuated he draws a pension. His whole life is arranged for him. He has nothing to do but sit down in his swivel chair and wait for death, with light and agreeable work to pass the time while he is waiting. It is evident that to the bold and enterprising American of tradition and story—the American of Walt Whitman's dream or the typical hero of American popular fiction—a job of that sort would be intolerable. Yet the demand for such jobs grows faster than congress can manufacture them, and it manufactures thousands of them at every session. And the greatest demand is for the lowest jobs. There are always long waiting lists of common clerks, but the few positions that require skill and training are sometimes hard to fill.

Few Americans are aware of the rate at which this horde of job holders has grown, is growing, and will continue to grow, unless checked by some unprecedented and inconceivable act of God. The records of the civil service commission show that in 1921 there were 8,211 civilian employees on the government rolls. The population of the United States was then about 9,000,000, which meant about 3,500,000 persons gainfully employed. There was thus one federal civil employee, approximately, for every 425 Americans gainfully employed.

In March, 1923, there were 504,779 civilian employees on the federal roster. Calculating in the same way, this means that one out of every 75 American breadwinners had a hoof in the federal trough. It means that the army of job-holders had grown five times as fast as the population.

North And West Turn To Cotton

From Farm Life
Cotton culture is steadily pushing northward and westward. Before the Civil war cotton was grown in southern Ohio and southern Illinois. There are records of cotton growing in Delaware and one case in Iowa.
However, farmers in Missouri, Kentucky, Illinois, Ohio and western Tennessee are getting ready to try cotton for the first time in their lives in the belief that they can make more money from this crop than any other adopted to their localities. The prevailing high price of cotton now around 34 cents, and the world shortage are the two main causes for this flurry. There is no stopping it, especially when conditions are based upon logic.
It has long been known among cotton breeders that cotton is one of the

England First In Sky Writing

(From Sales Management.)

Sky writing was discovered in England by Maj. Savage and the first advertiser to make use of it was the late Lord Northcliffe to advertise one of his papers, The London Daily Mail. It has been found that in general the best results are obtainable at an elevation of about 15,000 feet. The letters themselves vary in height from approximately one-half mile to a mile, the capital letters and loop letters being about one mile from top to bottom. The capital letters which the sky writing pilots form in the air are possibly are seven times the height of the Woolworth-bldg., and the dot over one of the 'i's might be compared to the size of the Equitable-bldg.

A word of seven or eight letters stretches across the sky for a distance of about five miles, and at an elevation of 10,000 feet as visible to the naked eye within a radius of 150 miles. Frequently the written smoke word will drift three or four miles without losing its formation.

most plastic of all plants grown commercially. It not only grows well in humid regions with 35 to 50 inches of rainfall but does well in semi arid territory with only 20 inches of rainfall a year. It thrives at sea level and almost equally well at elevation of 4,000 to 4,500 feet. It is all a matter of varieties, developed by taking advantage of the great latitude inherent in the cotton plant.

Unusual People
PAYS NO RENT NOR TAXES

Harry J. Deal 72-year-old naturalist doesn't pay rent or taxes. He lives in a cave on the side of Signal mountain, not far from Chattanooga, Tenn. and has for his companions, 16 dogs. "Doors are only to keep fresh air out," says he, "and this cave life is the only way to live." Deal sleeps on a bed of leaves covered with blankets and has no other furniture in his cave.

Q. How does the number of Chinese in China compare with the population of the United States? G. B. T.

A. There are about three times as many Chinese, the population of China being estimated at 320,000,000.

Q. What does "Elou loro" mean? I find it in a poem by Walter Scott. G. A. U.

A. Exactly what the phrase means can not be stated. Scott used it as an exclamation of sadness.

Q. How many street cars are there in the United States? J. W.

A. The American Electric Railway Association says that there are approximately 102,000 street cars of all types in the United States.

Q. What is the atmospheric pressure at the earth's surface? T. H. M.
A. The Naval Observatory says the atmospheric pressure at sea level is one ton per square foot, or more precisely, average atmospheric pressure is 2117 pounds per square foot, but it varies continually, often reaching 50 lbs. more or less.

Q. What instrument is it that has one string and played with a bow? L. B.

A. There is on the market a novelty musical instrument called the "bumbox" played with one string and a bow. There is also on the market a Chinese musical instrument which has one string. In the case of the latter a musical sound is made, in the case of the former none.

Q. What will remove smoke stains from bricks on front of a fireplace? E. G.

A. To remove smoke stains from bricks in front of a fireplace, mix 2 oz. of soda, 1 oz. of pumice stone, 1 oz. of salt with water sufficient to make a cream. Rub the bricks with this composition and let stand a few minutes and then brush off with a stiff brush.

Can't Smoke And Sing In Grand Opera

Frieda Hempel Has Advice to Offer Young Women Seeking Operatic Careers

Girls, take warning from Frieda Hempel, who sings in her Jenny Lind concert at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Friday evening. If you smoke, you cannot sing, at least not in grand opera, according to Miss Hempel.

"Smoking most certainly ruins the voice," says Miss Hempel, "and the would-be operatic star must decide between her art and her pleasure. Careers are often fragile things and they are almost sure to go up in smoke if you blow your own rings."

Miss Hempel has further advice for the aspiring music student. She does not urge the girl with a voice to go to Europe as soon as she is confident that she wants a career. She urges that students should go to Europe well equipped to intelligently appreciate and discriminate in music lest the mass of it offered in Europe may confuse rather than broaden her view.

The great singer does not underestimate the great good which may be derived from European study, she says. She urges that even a visit in Europe may be of good value but she maintains that America has some American teachers who are the best in the world.

CARD PARTIES

Equitable Fraternal union will give an open card party at 8 o'clock Friday night in South Masonic hall.

Bought Foods Can Be Given Cook's Touch

Some old-time housewives seemed to hold to the opinion that no housewife ought ever to buy anything that was humanely possible for her to make at home. True it is a compliment to one's guests to serve them with dishes that have all been made at home. Still it is often possible to put little home touches on bought things that give excellent results. For instance, it is quite easy to buy plain cake and frost it at home. A plain sponge or pound cake can be bought and cut into small squares or oblongs and then frosted more or less elaborately to give it a more festive appearance.

Of late years women have been giving up the habit of making mayonnaise at home. Enormous quantities of mayonnaise are sold in all the stores and in fact that it is sold in such quantities is undoubtedly due to the fact that the good bought mayonnaise is often quite a bit better than the mayonnaise made at home. Here, too, it is a simple matter to give a little home touch. A bit of lemon juice or flavored vinegar can be added, or a bit of spices that will give a little different taste.

An English woman in this country makes the comment that the American women without a maid has a really harder time of it because she seems to feel obliged to do so much more cooking. It is very unusual to make bread at home in England or on the continent save in the largest establishments. They seldom make little fancy cakes, cookies and such goodies. Moreover, the staple meat with an English family is a roast joint, which is very simple to make. They seem to be better content with an unvaried diet. Perhaps one reason why American women go on with all sorts of "fancy" cooking, even though maidless, is because they really like to do it. Perhaps it is a bit of rivalry, each woman wanting to do as well as or better than her neighbor in this matter of making attractive goodies to serve at luncheons, card parties and afternoon teas.

LODGE NEWS

A St. Patrick program and party was a feature of the meeting of Catholic Order of Forester Tuesday night in Catholic home. Michael Kewigan gave a talk and Prof. A. J. Theiss led in the singing of Irish songs. At the business session Henry Tillman was elected delegate to the state convention, with Henry Gucken-berg as alternate. Cards and a social followed.

C. S. Stockwell of Neillville, grand lecturer of Masonic order in Wisconsin, spoke to the Appleton chapter Tuesday night. Mr. Stockwell's talk concerned changes in the ritual of the first three degrees.

A short program and juvenile games will feature the regular meeting of Women of Mooseheart legion at 7:30 Thursday night in Moose temple. A short business session with initiation of candidates will precede the program. Mrs. Alva Carter is chairman of the hostesses, who are composed of women whose last names start with C and D.

Work in the first rank will be performed at the regular meeting of Knights of Pythias Thursday night in Castle hall. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock.

John R. Roen chapter, Order of De Molay, will meet at 7:30 Thursday night in Masonic hall. Business will be transacted.

There will be tables for schafkopf, cinch and dice. A social hour will follow the games.

Mrs. Shannon New Head Of Woman Club

Mrs. S. C. Shannon was elected president of Appleton Woman's club at the election on Tuesday. Mrs. Shannon has been a member of the board of directors since the club was established and has been one of the most faithful workers in the organization. Due to her successful management of the finance department in its yearly campaigns, its work for earning money and its building campaign, the club has been able to buy its buildings and to hold its own financially.

Mrs. L. C. Sleeper was elected first vice president, Mrs. L. J. Marshall, second vice president; Mrs. F. G. Wheeler, recording secretary; Mrs. A. F. Tuttle, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. C. Hilfert, treasurer and Mrs. Leonard Graef, assistant treasurer. The directors at large include Mrs. Robert Hackworthy, Mrs. Julius Kahn, Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, Mrs. S. C. Rosebush and Mrs. G. E. Buchanan.

The count of the vote for the amendments to the articles of incorporation was not completed by Wednesday.

Not Enough Evidence To Provide Test

Peter Larsen was acquitted of bootlegging because of insufficient evidence to supply the entire jury. On Monday at all what you think, but only a mock trial held by the Loyal Order of Moose at the regular meeting Tuesday night in Moose temple. Hugo Keller presided as judge, Robert McGillan acted as prosecuting attorney, while the defendant's attorney was John Gilsdorf. Bailiff of the court was Walter Scherck. After a stormy session the jury returned a verdict of acquittal, because "the evidence was not sufficient to allow each member to make a real test."

Mrs. Davis Recovers Strength

The following statement contained in a letter from Mrs. Alice Davis of Jamestown, N. Y., should bring hope to other women who are in the same condition she was. She says, "I was nervous and weak with pains in my back, no ambition, and utterly discouraged, and could not sit up all the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength so I am now running a rooming house and do all the work." Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is pre-eminent successful in overcoming such troubles and it will pay any suffering woman to try it.

OUTAGAMIE-CO IS SHORT OF MONEY FOR ROAD OPENING

Proposal From Brown-co to Open Highway 15 Is Rejected Here

Opening of the Kaukauna-DePere rd so to make travel between Milwaukee and Green Bay possible still is indefinite. The proposal of the Brown-co highway commissioner that both counties open a way through as far as the county line was not received favorably by the county-state road and bridge committee of Outagamie-co which met in the courthouse Monday.

The county board had not appropriated sufficient money for snow removal purposes to warrant the opening of this road, and the committee was not inclined to use county patrol funds for that purpose.

Word has been issued from O. C. Rollman, Green Bay, divisional highway engineer, that the road should be opened to motor travel. The question of whether state patrol money can be used for this purpose is being discussed.

A powerful snow plow has been devised by A. C. Brusewitz county highway commissioner, that is said to be capable of removing the well packed snow and ice, but the county's tractor is not considered powerful enough to push the plow through the ice. Brown-co offered this county the use of one of its tractors for this work.

ON THE SCREEN

LOUISE FAZENDA AS BATHING BEAUTY

Louise Fazenda has taken to lights.

"Sa fact All the years that she spent on the Sonnets lot she managed to avoid tight and bathing suits—privately she believes that's the reason she has become a full-fledged star yet—but now that she is appearing under the banner of Thomas H. Ince in his sparkling new comedy special, "The Galloping Fish," she flashes across the screen in an Anne Kellerman that fits her closer than her skin. So Louise, hopefully remembering Betty Compson, Mary Thuman, Marie Provost and Gloria Swanson all of whom graduated from bathing suits to stardom, dares to believe that she may see her own name in the white lights some day soon.

There's a trained seal supporting Louise in her bathing suit and diving act, "Freddie" is his name and he helps the "Diving Venus" pull some of the funniest stunts that ever have been put on the silver sheet. With Ed Sterling, Syd Chaplin and Chester Conklin working toward the same end of creating laughs, the comedy is one of the rarest ever screened.

The story is that of a lovesick young husband, in the agonizing throes of his first quarrel with his bride, who unwillingly gets mixed up with "Venus" and her pet seal. The entire action of the picture takes place in twenty-four hours with seven galloping feet filled with laughs and hilarity. A flood that sweeps away a house and a circus simultaneously, with inevitable disastrous results when the inmates of the house meet the terrified circus animals, lends an exciting "punch" to the Louise and her chorus of bathing beauties, who do a remarkable "tank" act with trained seals, like a treat for the optics.

"The Galloping Fish," a First National release will be shown at the Dite Theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

WEDNESDAY
Winning Forgiveness

Read Mt 6:15. Text: 6:14. For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

"God's forgiveness involves three things: (1) a wrong done to God by a man; (2) the man's repentance that it is the wrong committed; and (3) it possible made right, (3) a change on the part of God from disapproving to approving love."

MEDITATION: Jesus was continually emphasizing the truth that we limit our own lives by the attitude we take towards others. That the quality which we possess, both of forgiveness and love for others, determines in what measure we shall have the forgiveness and affection of the Father. In many ways we control our own destiny.

PERSONAL QUESTION: Is there anyone who has wronged me and repented whom I do not forgive?

PRAYER: Help us to remember O God that we are members of a great family. Let us live in love with all men that thy grace may enrich the lives of all. Let no life be hindered by anything we may say or do. Show us thy will and let us do it with joy, through Christ, Amen. (Copyright 1924—F. L. Egler)

Waverly Hotel Fire Was Highlight In City's History In Late Nineties

A generation has grown to manhood and hundreds of people have come to Appleton to make their homes who do not know of the fire which destroyed the old Waverly house, one of the early hotels in this locality. The Elk clubhouse is built on the hotel site. The structure was discovered to be on fire about 3 o'clock on the morning of Saturday, Sept. 18, 1897. The resultant loss was estimated at $20,000 to the B. T. Rogers estate of which Dr. Rush Winslow was administrator. There was $18,000 insurance on the building and $1,500 on the furniture, linens and silver, the latter belonging to W. B. Pearl.

The hotel was in the process of repair prior to being taken over by a new management when it was destroyed. More than $3,000 had been spent in putting the building in shape for a first class hotel and W. B. Pearl, the new manager was making preparations to close his resort at Devil Lake on Sept. 20 and come to Appleton to open the Waverly house about Oct. 15. He had ordered new furniture, which was to have arrived in Appleton the next week.

STARTED NEAR ROOF On the night of the fire, Patrolman Dennis Carroll made his rounds at 1 o'clock as usual and there was no sign of fire or smoke at that time. About 2 o'clock a hackman coming from the depot saw that the roof was on fire and the fire burned steadily downward until all except the kitchen had been destroyed. The firemen worked faithfully and were assisted materially by a new fire hydrant that had been installed at the corner just a week before. Flying sparks caused the corners of nearby property much agitation during the fire, but there was no damage done to adjacent buildings.

The McNeill house, one of Appleton's first hotels stood on the site of the Waverly house having been built in the early sixties. It later was moved and became part of the Bugge house building. Part of the destroyed building was erected in 1870 and 1871 and it was added to in 1872 and 1873. Turner and Foster were its first proprietors and it is said that the building cost $57,000 having been erected when prices were high. Capt. Turner and Major Morgan then managed the hotel and in 1874 Major Morgan sold his interests to Capt. Turner. In 1877, the hotel was taken over by R. T. Rogers, who managed it until W. H. Cottrell became manager in 1878. It was after Mr. Cottrell's death that

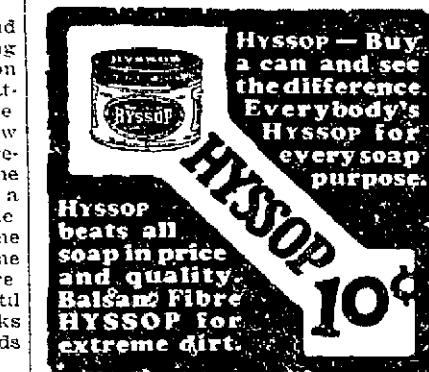

RESUME WORK ON CHERRY-ST BRIDGE

Piers Are Completed and Construction Company Will Lay Steel

Construction on the Cherry st bridge is being resumed by the Wau-sau Iron works. During the winter months, the company was engaged in building the piers for the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul Railway company bridge which passes underneath the viaduct.

All piers of the viaduct have been completed and work on the superstructure will now commence. Several cars of steel have already been shipped for this purpose over the special side tracks of the Milwaukee road.

W. H. Klyce, supervising engineer of Harrington, Howard and Ash of New York and Kansas City, which firm drew the plans for Appleton's two bridges, has returned from Kansas City and will resume his supervisory work at Cherry-st structure.

SEEK RECRUITS FOR CITIZENS ARMY CAMP

Major Albert Tucker of the 402nd Infantry, who is head of the Citizens' Military Training corps of this district, presides at the 1924 encampment will be a bigger success than any in the three years of their existence.

There are nine corps areas, with a camp for each section. The Wisconsin candidates, with those of Michigan and Illinois, go to Camp Custer at Battle Creek, Mich. The training period for this camp is from August 1 to 30.

The military instruction given at these camps is thorough, and graduates of the four-year course are eligible to take the examinations for second lieutenant's commissions in the regular army. Candidates in the three advanced courses, the Red, White, and Blue courses may choose any department of the army. Candidates in the basic course, which is for those who have had no military experience, are given instruction in the rudiments of military training.

will fascinate you and a story that will thrill you, can be seen today and Thursday at the New Bijou theatre, where Albie Brady, in "His Bridal Night," is playing.

"His Bridal Night" is one of the liveliest little farces the screen has seen in some time. Miss Brady in the dual role of Vi and Tiny, Playfair, twins reaches the zenith of her screen acting. Never has she done more natural or enthusiastic work. She is real, vital, living. With her spontaneity and irresistible personality, her characterization of Vi, the girl, heartless little flirt, is superb. And as Tiny, the demure, faithful soul, she is equally as splendid.

Edward Earle and James Crane lend Miss Brady excellent support, and Kenneth Webb, with his shrewdly making the picture the success it is.

The story centers about the bridal night of Vi. Directly after the wedding ceremony she is persuaded by Lent Trevett, the man her sister loves to go off with him. Tiny overhears their plans and decides that as long as her twin is stealing the man she loves, she will steal Vi's husband. A merry chase ensues while Vi tries to get back her husband and Tiny the man she loves.

"His Bridal Night" will afford a splendid hour's amusement to anyone. It is a picture that is worthy of the name of Albie Brady and one that nobody can afford to miss.

Gasoline Prices

A LATE bulletin issued by the Bureau of Mines points out that 1923 established a new high record in gasoline production in the United States, reaching 7,555,945,143 gallons—an increase over 1922 of 21.83%.

The National Petroleum News prints an estimate that the probable requirements during 1924 will be 8,236,617,000 gallons of gasoline.

Unless the 1924 output of gasoline shall more than equal the high record of 1923, the supply will fall short of the demand by at least 780,617,857 gallons.

It is a well-established fact that crude production has declined sharply, California alone shows a falling off from the 1923 high mark of more than 200,000 barrels a day.

Manifestly only those refiners who can extract the greatest yield of gasoline from a given quantity of crude oil are in position to render a major service under existing circumstances.

During the past several years processes have been developed in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), by means of which this Company is able to recover a greater yield of gasoline from a given quantity of crude.

The benefits derived from the operation of these processes accrue directly to the advantage of the motoring public, because the increased yield secured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) exerts a marked deterrent influence on the price you pay for a gallon of gasoline.

A willingness to give reports on unworthy credit patrons was emphasized, and merchants were told not to be backward about admitting to the other fellow when they were "stung," because this was a help, perhaps to both. Mr. Fetterly declared that a city that is not organized along credit granting lines in some of the "dead heat" in some cases and settle down instead of settling up.

Mr. Fetterly displayed a uniform Rotary convention trim produced mostly by Tuttle Press which can be used in all windows and most merchants less than a dollar, consisting largely of crepe paper. A like decoration will be used for the U. C. T. convention, he said.

Mr. Miller, Mr. Genens and Mr. Fetterly discussed credit methods for retailers, laying stress on the wisdom of having a conference with the customer before making an account, and making it plain that credit is granted for 30 days only. They urged merchants to stop fearing the credit customer who might go elsewhere; that those who do not pay promptly should be moved out of the store just as poor merchandise. Merchants were urged to form a local credit association, where their heads of such

Kimberly Has First Woman Office Seeker

JOE PARELLI WINS WRESTLING TITLE

Milwaukee—Joe Parelli, the wiry Italian of Chicago, is the new midweight wrestling champion of the world. Joe annexed the title at the Auditorium here Tuesday night by defeating Johnny Meyers in one of the greatest mat duels ever waged in this part of the country. The Italian, flashing the speed of a Johnny Dundee, won the second and third falls after he proved an easy victim to Meyers, who won the first fall in four minutes with a double wrist lock.

The Italian, fighting with the ferocity of a wounded panther, wrestled Meyers off his feet. He gave one of the finest exhibitions of catch-as-catch-can local fans have ever seen.

He pinned Meyers with a combination headlock and toe hold in 31 minutes .04 seconds and came back after a five minute rest and forced the champion to relinquish his crown with a painful toehold. Johnny being forced to quit although his shoulders were not pinned to the mat.

BEALE RESIGNS FROM MILWAUKEE CHURCH

Friends of Dr. Charles H. Beale, pastor of Grand-ave Congregational church in Milwaukee, will be interested in the announcement that he is soon to leave his pastorate. Dr. Beale was given a rousing send-off by the Milwaukee Rotary club at its last meeting. His son succeeds him as pastor of the fashionable Milwaukee church. Dr. Beale was one of the speakers at the Peoples forum here during the winter.

Friday Brings Her Almost To Century Mark

Seymour—Mrs. Herman "Grandma" Husman has only one more year to go in her desire to achieve the unusual age of 100 years. Her birthday occurs Friday and she will be 99 years old at that time. There will be no formal celebration, but she will be congratulated by her many friends. Mrs. Husman enjoys life keenly even though she has passed the age when most people retain their vigor.

BEGGS' BEGGING STOPPED BY U. S.

Harmon Beggs, who startled the country with his Ponzi-like offers of a 2,000 per cent dividends on six-month investments, in options on mining property in Mexico has "Begg'd" once too often.

It is highly probable that he will do no more "begging" in this territory, or if he does, none of his anticipated mail from Appleton and environment will ever reach him.

The reason for this is that a fraud order has been issued against Beggs by the United States postal department, with instructions to stop all mail destined for Beggs. Postmaster William H. Zuehlke was one of the postmasters to complain to the department at Washington about the promoter's dazzling schemes. Beggs cannot be prosecuted because he lives in another country. Issuing a fraud order against him is the most this country can do to stop the misuse of mails.

She is hale and hearty and came to town last week to attend the funeral of a friend.

JURY SAYS COUNTY IS NOT LIABLE FOR DEATH OF INDIAN

Indian Woman Loses Suit to Recover $10,000 for Death of Husband

A verdict favoring the county was returned by the jury of twelve men trying the $10,000 damage suit of Mrs. Louise Smith vs. Outagamie county Tuesday evening. A three-fourth majority in the sum of $1,000 were voted by five-sixths of the jury members, the widow of Anderson Smith, Oneida Indian, who was drowned in a flood in Oneida two years ago, will not be able to recover, for the reason that county officers were not held culpable for the unimproved condition of the road.

In a special verdict of seven questions, the jury found that the road where the washout occurred was insufficient for public travel, that this insufficiency of the road was caused by an extraordinary rainfall during June 10 and 11, 1922, but that the county officers were not informed early enough to repair the damages or post up warnings at the washout. The jury also held that Smith's death was not due to any want of ordinary care on his part.

The case was given to the jury at 2:10 Tuesday afternoon, and the verdict was rendered at 6:53 in the evening.

OLD OCCUPANTS BROUGHT CORFU RICH HEIRLOOM

Greeks, Romans, Venetians And French Under Napoleon Left Mark

By Associated Press

Corfu — This island is the rich heir of great powers, which were in their day the master of the world. There were the ancient Greeks, the Romans, the Venetians, the French under Napoleon and finally, the British. All have left their valuable heirlooms but the most outstanding is that of the Venetians, the French and the British.

The picturesque old fort of Corfu is the work of the Venetians. Situated on a high promontory, literally imposing itself into the sea, the fort dominates the entrance to the harbor. In these days, it cannot be considered as a fort at all because of its obsolescence. It does not even mount a single gun. Huge bastions flank its sides and its walls present an overpowering spectacle because of their ponderous appearance. The winged lion of St. Mark is to be found everywhere about it. Today this fort is a veritable town in itself, housing 6,000 Anatolian refugees, fourteen of whom were killed in the recent bombardment of the town by the Italians. Shell holes from it can be seen in several places.

The bit of France in Corfu is the colonnaded row of buildings facing the fort. There is a spacious park between the colonnade and the fort, and this is the favorite evening promenade of the Corfiotes, as the townspeople are called. The colonnades are on the style of the Palais Royal in Paris. Their presence here gives the appearance of Corfu's being a much bigger place. They were built by Napoleon in 1807.

The British occupation, which lasted from 1815 to 1836, was marked for the utilitarian character of its endowments to the island. The British built all the roads, constructed the water system for the city of Corfu which is the one used today, and built the huge royal palace, now adopted as the palace of the Greek ruling sovereign whenever he visits the island. The British further extended their beneficence by building all the wharves which line the harbor. There is an English church here and it is this inscription:

In this building, formerly Parliament House, the union of the Ionian Islands with the Kingdom of Greece by the will of the Ionian people and with the consent of the protecting power, Great Britain, was voted by the Ionian parliament on the 26th September, 1863.

Cats Taking To Climbing Poles Here

Either the kitties in this vicinity are having lots of fun with the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co., or else fate is working out a little scheme, for since last Wednesday the company has had calls to remove three cats from poles. Last Wednesday Harvey Rath and Herman Reinke were called to Leppla's corner near Greenville to remove a cat from a pole, on Saturday night they were called to Kimberly to remove another feline from the top of a pole and on Tuesday night another cat decided to be in the swing of things, so it climbed a pole on South Division-st in the Fourth Ward. The same men removed the cat. Perhaps it's getting to be a fad, like mountain climbing.

DEATHS

GREEN FUNERAL

WEST AUSTRALIA STARTS NEW ERA OF DEVELOPMENT

State Leads Others In Matter Of Group Settlements And Colonization

By Associated Press

Sydney, N. S. W. — Western Australia is leading more and more in the affairs of the commonwealth in point of settlement and land development. This state leads the others of Australia in the matter of group settlements, which have justified themselves so far in placing and entirely financing suitable men with families on the land that the question of establishing co-operative factories for handling their dairy and other products, is now occupying the attention of the government.

The western state is demonstrating its enterprise and resources beyond the dreams of the peoples of the older states.

A striking demonstration of this was furnished by the purchase of 843,000 acres in the Murchison district, Dandarraga station, by E. A. Brooks, well known South Australian rancher.

"I went to Western Australia expecting to find a land of sand and sorrow, but was much mistaken," Brooks said on his return here. "I saw a huge, fertile country, crying aloud for men and money to develop it. I rode for 2,500 miles through pastoral country only, and then saw not more than half of their pastoral areas. In the far northwest, I grew some of the finest merino wool in the world, being free from seed or burr, very high yielding and greatly sought after by buyers."

were conducted Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. F. C. Reuter. The survivors are five children, Mrs. John Kramer, Los Angeles, Mrs. William Schulte, Freedom, Mrs. Otto Rampe, Chicago, Louis Gehring and Mrs. Max Dittmer, Appleton, 23 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

GERMAN SHIPPING SUFFERING FROM FINANCIAL SLUMP

Collapse Of Mark Calls Sudden Halt To Shipbuilding Revived After War

Hamburg — Germany's shipbuilding activity was short-lived. The terms of the Versailles Treaty, which deprived Germany of all her large commercial ships, brought many shipyards into existence and started a general construction boom. But the collapse of the mark, with consequent difficulties between labor and employers, and the troubles builders found in financing purchases of raw materials, called a sudden halt.

Germany had to give up to its former enemies all of its ships larger than 1,600 tons, and half of its ships with a tonnage between 1,600 and 1,000. Only ships suitable for coastwise shipping remained.

Roughly a total of 4,000,000 tons of German shipping was turned over. As there had been a heavy loss of German ships in the war, there were only 600,000 tons left after the terms of the Versailles Treaty were executed.

New ships were built, and Germans bought ships back from their former enemies until the German merchant fleet now has 2,600,000 tons of bottoms, which is less than half the pre-war size, and less than 5 per cent of the mercant shipping of the world.

The government gave large sums to encourage ship building, supplying two-thirds of the cost. But German money fell in value so rapidly that government appropriations depreciated before construction was completed on many of the ships. Iron and coal prices in Germany rose higher than the world prices, and the general depression of world trade caused many ships to lie idle in German harbors, just as elsewhere. Shipowners today are scarcely able to make operating expenses and have nothing left for building programs. German exports are now worth only about 100,000,000 gold marks monthly, which is about one-tenth of the pre-war figures.

Shipping circles are hoping for a resumption of the American grain trade to Europe and a general improvement in the world trade situation as an offset to the hard blow which the German internal situation has struck at shipbuilding and ship operation.

CONDEMN LAND TO EXTEND STREET

Condemnation proceedings for opening a street in Kimberly was being heard by a jury of eight men in county court before Judge John Bottensell Wednesday morning. Because travelers are at present required to travel over a circuitous route in order to reach a certain part of the village, its officers are endeavoring to have Oak-st extended through the William property. Attorney C. G. Cannon is representing the Village of Kimberly and Attorney F. E. Martin of Green Bay represents the property owners.

MEASLES EPIDEMIC DECLINING HERE

Measles is on the decline in Appleton, only 50 families being quarantined in the city, according to Dr. William C. Felton, health physician. There is an increase of scarlet fever cases, the total being ten on Wednesday.

More than half of the homes which were quarantined during the measles epidemic have had the cards removed. There are but few new cases and many of the remaining cards will be taken off within a few days.

DRAINAGE CANAL WON'T ENDANGER BROWN-CO FARMS

Schneider Assures Farmers
That Ditch Will Carry Off
All Water

The floods control committee has unanimously reported out Congressman George J. Schneider's bill for a survey of Wolf river. The Appleton congressman has recited a communication from the county board of supervisors of Brown co. in which fear was expressed that damage to the bridges and other property might result from turning the water from the low lands of the Wolf river into Duck Creek.

Mr. Schneider declares that the canal will be deep enough, wide enough, and the banks high enough to protect all farm lands adjacent thereto and will act as a drainage basin, and the water entering the canal will be controlled under direct supervision of the federal government.

The Appleton congressman pointed out that the bill provides only for a survey of the Wolf river district, and that when the matter is finally decided by the chief of engineers of the war department, care would be taken that no property damage will result.

Campaign in Business District
Is Bringing Results—Club Votes Funds

Membership in the Safe Drivers club of Outagamie co. has reached the 100-mark, largely through the efforts of two members of the campaign committee who have been enrolling motorists in the business district. Solicitation will be made in the entire downtown section at the start and it is expected that several hundred will be enrolled there. The campaign then will be carried into the outlying districts and the county at large. Everybody who owns or drives an automobile is invited to join. Application may be made at the chamber of commerce office.

None of the money paid in fees to the Safe Drivers club goes to the chamber of commerce, as some have supposed. The funds are the property of the Safe Drivers club and are used solely for expenditures authorized by club members. Each member pays one dollar and in return is given a book of rules, a membership card and a disc for the radiator of the automobile. The remaining money stays in the treasury and will be used for safety promotion or any purpose the club deems.

SOLITE (REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.) A PERFECT GASOLINE Follows Through

THE man who plays golf knows the most important part of a golf stroke is the follow through.

If the club meets and follows after the ball the result is a straight ball with long yardage. But if the club does not follow the ball, the result is a pull or a slice and a weak effort.

This visualizes the difference between Solite, The Perfect Gasoline, with its perfect chain of boiling point fractions, and so-called "high-test" gasoline.

Most "high-test" gasolines start the piston stroke with a slap and then fall away,

But, Solite, The Perfect Gasoline, drives the piston the full stroke under power, with a steady, steam-engine-like pressure.

That is why you get such quick response and such sustained power with Solite in the tank.

It is that "full stroke under power" that has made Solite, The Perfect Gasoline, so popular, possessing as it does all the elements of so-called "high-test" gasolines, and, in addition, an abundance of sustained power and speed.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) uses its cracking process in making Solite. Because of this it can control the arrangement of boiling point fractions and insure an even, rhythmic flow of power. That is why Solite follows through.

For a Light Gasoline, Solite is Low-Priced

SPORTSMEN BACK STATE AMENDMENT FOR FOREST POLICY

County Association Will Urge Voters to Support Move in Fall Election

When voters have opportunity next November to stamp their approval upon a policy of forest conservation and development by the state of Wisconsin, Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association will be among its supporters.

This is the assurance conveyed to C. L. Harrington, superintendent of forests and parks for the state conservation commission by W. R. Wheaton, president of the county sportsmen. The amendment and its advantages were outlined to Mr. Wheaton in a letter received from Mr. Harrington, in which he also requests sportsmen's clubs everywhere to help present this matter to the voters.

The amendment will be made to section ten of article eight of the state constitution which has to do with internal improvements. Its exact wording will be: "That the state may appropriate moneys for the purpose of acquiring, preserving and developing the forests of the state; but there shall not be appropriated under the authority of this section in any one year an amount to exceed two-tenths of one mill of the taxable property of the state, as determined by the last preceding assessment."

SPORTSMEN PAY EXPENSES Conservation Work from the Fees Received from Hunting and Fishing Licenses and a Large Part of it Lies Idle in the State Treasury because the State has no power to go into forest conservation work on a scale which will stop the annual waste.

It is said that this state uses only about $30,000 each biennium for this work, while Minnesota has a forest department that is given an appropriation of $250,000.

The state constitution at first prohibited internal improvements of any kind with state funds. An amendment was adopted which permitted a highway program and the conservation commission now seeks one that will permit the state to buy forest preserves if necessary and take other steps which will mean the planting of cutover areas, especially lands not suitable for farming or other more productive purposes.

ENABLING ACT ONLY

The amendment itself will be only an enabling act which will legalize the right of the state to participate directly in the acquiring, developing, and preserving of forests and resources of the state. The outgrowth of a forest policy, the rapidity of its progress will continue to rest with the legislature. No satisfactory forestry policy can be developed without the amendment, however.

Proper legislation was considered by the legislature in 1907 and 1909 and the people voted on the amendment in 1910. It received a sufficient number of votes but the action was invalid because of technicalities in recording the legislative votes. It therefore became necessary to bring the question up a second time. Conditions have become so much more acute since that time it is believed support will be forthcoming more than ever.

Sportsmen believe delays will make

Force Liquor Makers To Pay Federal Taxes

Violators of the Volstead prohibition act will be assessed for internal revenue taxes. The first gun in a drive to clean up approximately 7,000 cases was fired last week by A. H. Wilkinson, collector of internal revenue. He mailed notices to 25 such persons that assessments will be made.

The persons notified have 10 days in which to protest or demand a hearing. If such a demand is filed, a date will be set for a hearing 20 to 30 days after the protest. If it is decided that the government is justified in forcing payment, the facts in the case will be taken into federal court.

The law provides penalties of $1,000 for the manufacture or wholesale of liquor without a license, $500 for retailing without a license, double barrel tax—$12.50—for manufacture, in addition to the $1,000, and an additional $1,000 for selling in dry territory.

APPLETON LEADING IN NEW BUILDING

Appleton led all cities in the state except Milwaukee during February in the amount of construction authorized through issuance of building permits. No permits had been issued in February, 1923, for the reason that the zoning ordinance did not take effect until March 20, and thus no comparison with the previous year is possible this month.

A comparison with other cities is as follows: Appleton, $172,900; Milwaukee, $1,518,907; Janesville, $5,350; Green Bay, $13,991; Kenosha, $29,787; Oshkosh, $88,096; Racine, $68,115; Sheboygan, $51,710; Superior, $11,885.

NEW LONDON LIONS WILL GET CHARTER APRIL 23

A delegation of Appleton Lions will attend the charter meeting of the new Lions club at New London on April 23. Other cities in this territory also are planning to send delegations. A banquet and dance will be held in connection with the charter meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall.

PLAN EDUCATIONAL TOURS DURING SPRING VACATION

J. E. Dennison, boys work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is planning daily educational tours to industrial plants during the spring vacation next week. The program will open Monday with a hike to Kaukauna. Thursday the boys will be taken through the Konz Box factory and the Knoke saw mill and Friday they will visit the plant of the Menasha Printing and Carton company. Arrangements are being made for Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday programs. These tours are conducted annually during the spring vacation of the public schools.

A Word to the Wise

"In March I was called to the bedside of my sister in Brewton, Alabama. She was given up to die and was almost dead. Talked in a whisper. Doctors said nothing but an operation would save her and she was too weak for that. Her color was as yellow as a pumpkin and she was filled with gas. That day I heard of Ma's Wonderful Remedy and went and got a bottle for her. In three weeks she was able to be about and walked a mile to church. I am praising your medicine to everyone." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the curricular mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.

What Do You Know About Salads and Salad Making?

Canned foods lend themselves so readily to successful salad making, that every housekeeper should endeavor to have in reserve a small stock of the fish, fruits and vegetable tables which are most popular for this form of cooking, for the emergencies which arise in even the most perfectly managed households.

With a bottle or two of prepared salad dressing in addition, she may in the twinkling of an eye add a salad course to her menu and such a salad course, too, as would not be possible were she to rely solely on the green goods available in the market.

But to do this she will need the recipe booklet on canned foods which this bureau has for free distribution. This booklet tells how to prepare 35 salads and 10 different salad dressings.

It is yours for the asking. Just enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

Walls and Woodwork

KEEPING dust and grime out of the home is the housewife's constant worry and problem.

Most of all, keeping the walls and ceilings fresh and clean is of the utmost importance both for beauty and sanitary reasons.

Health, Color, Harmony and enjoyment of the home go hand in hand where inside surfaces are treated with

Bradley & Vrooman Washable Interior Colors

They are perfectly sanitary—be- cause washable. Any surface may be kept clean and fresh by washing with a sponge and cold water. No more time and trouble is required than is necessary for washing your windows.

And please remember that these washings do not mar or streak the finish but simply renew its beauty while cleaning it thoroughly.

Paint Doesn't Cost Money —It Saves It!

Unless your home is protected inside and outside by repainting at least once every four years, you will lose, in repairs and lessened value, from five to ten times what the paint and labor would cost.

Save the surface and you save all that's behind it.

Washable Interior Colors are adaptable for use in every home—cottage or mansion—also ideal for hospitals, theaters and other public buildings.

"I don't mean anything in particular," said Ruth evasively, "except that every man has to do this when his wife has money of her own. You know very well, my dear, that if you had an assured income without going back to your father, you would tell Jack all about your pearls and take him the way you would say, 'I'll take my baby and get out.'"

"Speaking of babies, Leslie, did you ask Jack to go with us to that moving picture tonight?"

"Yes, but he said he thought he would be too busy to go."

"Well, you tell him for me, Leslie, that because of the coincidence of little Jack being left before your door and Paula Peters' picture, which has to do with a child being left at the door of two young people, all Albany is agog with gossip."

"What kind of gossip, Ruth? What are they saying?"

"Just what Mrs. Smithson intimated to you. That the child is John's. Forgive me, Leslie, for being so brutal. As a rule, I do not believe in retailing this kind of thing, but this story has gotten to such a point that somebody must squelch it."

"Surely you don't believe it is true, Ruth?"

"As far as I'm concerned I don't know anything about it, Leslie, and if you leave it to me I don't think it matters. Little Jack has been in your house for months. He is yours grown into your heart. He is yours legally. No one can take him from you and the sooner you stop con-

A WARM CROSS

"Ho, ho, Misses Cross Patch," said the little lady next day. "Here is a riddle for you to guess. It's the places where you like to sit and spin. But I never did think you were as selfish as the place about you says."

"I'm glad you don't," answered Misses Cross Patch gratefully. "For really I just love to have company in tea. I never drink it up and then ask in the neighbors. But what is the riddle?"

"Here it is," said the little lady: "Crackle! Crackle! What am I? Winking with my cherry eye. Beckoning you to come to tea, And sup with pussy cat and me."

"Pussies purr the loveliest tunes In the winter afternoons, We don't bother with the weather, We love so to be together."

"And the kettle—you should hear it! I just love to be so near it. Sings away down in his nose. If'n H'm! That's how he goes!"

"If you come we'll have some toast I make that nicely (it's my boast) As I hiss and spark and sputter, Will you please spread on the butter?"

"Odl Jack Frost just cannot bear me, But I never let him scare me, As he roars along the street, Nipping kiddles' hands and feet."

"They come in out of the storm And run to me to keep them warm. As I roar and flash and hiss, They know that it's just a kiss."

"I'm the cooks most trusted friend, I bake things for her without end. But the stoves no place for me, I love the hearth where folk have ten,

State Favorites

LEFT TO RIGHT, BOTTOM ROW: HORNBECK, FRAZER; MIDDLE ROW: KOLL, HIEBEL, COURTNEY; TOP ROW: WILSON, MURPHY, SCHEURLE, HILLMAN, WADSWORTH.

Appleton high school is hoped to climb to the top of the state basketball championship ladder in the tournament which begins Wednesday in Madison. The Orange lost but two games during the entire conference season, and completely outclassed every rival team in the district tournament here two weeks ago. Appleton is playing Platteville in the first series of the tournament, and if the team wins this contest, it stands a good chance of taking the state title.

Philadelphia — Renato Gardini,

wrestling title, defeated Mort Henderson,

Rochester, N. Y., in two straight falls.

HE other night, sitting with our congenial traveling companion, One Punch O'Goaty, in a cafe conducting by Pete Herman, former bantamweight champion of the world, the sound of a shot rang, followed by what picturesque writers often call a babble of excited voices. Presently one of the ebony-hued attaches let it be known that a trap drummer across the street had been shot.

"Is he dead?" asked Herman.
"Yes, sah, he's done dead, but that's all right."

"Whaddamean all right?" pressed the former champion, somewhat shocked.

"Well he'd been in bad health for a long time anyway, boss."
The important feature about the foregoing is that both the murder and the quaint philosophical observations happen to be true.

TWO Senegambian porters stood in the lobby of the Bienville giving the New York athletes the here and there.

"See that boy over there? His name's Penpock and he shoro can pitch," commented the first porter.

"Uh huh!" concurred the second one, only faintly interested.
"And that boy sitting over there is Wardie the great second baseman."

"Yeah."
"And look yonder at the writing desk, dat's Mister Huggins hisself."

"Do tell."
"And that big fellow coming in the door is Schang. You shore done heard of Schang?"

PITCHING RECORD CONTEST SPOILS CAREER OF STAR

Cadore, with White Sox at Winter Haven, Expects to Come Back

Winter Haven — Leon Cadore is down here flipping the apple back and forth with the White Sox.
Leon thinks he can come back. He feels the biceps of his pitching arm and smiles, "The old souper is as good as ever."

Hops springs eternal in the oldtim-er's chest, especially in late March and early April. Of course, Cadore's arm is not as good as ever. He scotched his fate as a pitcher the day he pitched 26 innings for Brooklyn against Boston, holding Joe Oeschger even,
1 to 1.

Cadore hasn't been a great pitcher since, and he never will be.
Maybe he will step out and win a game here and there for the White Sox this season—surely none will begrudge him any amount of success—but when he talks of being as good as ever he is merely talking.

Philadelphia — Renato Gardini,
claimant of the Italian heavyweight
wrestling title, defeated Mort Henderson, Rochester, N. Y., in two straight
falls.

The Nut Cracker

NEW ORLEANS—Numbered among the young gent who are down here yawning and stretching at the expense of Jake Ruppert's Yankees is Adolfo Arguilo, pronounced speedily if at all, a self-confessed general in the Mexican army.

"What's it take to be a general in that league?" asked Mike McNally, as the celebrated tamale punisher sat in the lobby of the Bienville.

"A good pair of willing dogs," smiled the general, who is surprisingly skilled in the use of American slang.

The general's dogs, incidentally are built on large, generous lines and have obviously rendered their owner invaluable service in moments of martial stress.

FIRST CONSIDERATION
in the building of a home, is the selection of the lot. We have choice building sites in all parts of the city and at all prices.

The far sighted person knows that after a lot is acquired, the erection of the house follows must more easily.

Many of these lots also represent good investments, as they must certainly advance in price in a city with the rapid development that Appleton has.

Lots can be purchased on terms. See us.

CHICAGO CHEESE MARKET
Chicago—Trading in the cheese market Tuesday was very weak with prices slightly lower. Trade was so quiet that it was difficult to accurately establish price levels. The few sales reported were within the listed price range but the fact that many dealers were offering freely at concessions indicated that it decidedly was a buyers market. A few lots of June Twins were sold at quotations but trade on this class of goods was generally quiet.

TAGORE SAYS ISLAM WILL GAIN CONTROL OVER HINDU SECTS
Bengali Poet Shocked And Disappointed Over American Nationalism
By Associated Press
Calcutta — Sir Rabindranath Tagore, Bengali poet and 1913 recipient of the Nobel Prize for Literature, said today in an address to the Bengal Legislative Council that Islam would soon gain supremacy over the Hindus, bringing India again under Mohammedan rule.
Tagore was found at his home and school at Shantiniketan (the abode of Peace), which is about four and a half hours by rail from Calcutta. When asked if he intended ever to go back to Europe and America, the poet said that while his first visit to America, in 1916, had led him to believe that the United States had become so powerful and so advanced in civilization that she would be able to avoid war herself and would also, by economic pressure, be able to prevent long conflicts between other nations, his last visit had brought only shock and disappointment. The country was war-mad, he said, and without the patience to listen to philosophers, poets or dreamers.
"I am afraid many of the things I had to say were unpopular," he added, "because an intense spirit of nationalism was sweeping America. I am opposed to nationalism in every form. For me every question is an international one. The press and public men were clamoring for what they called 'hundred per cent Americanism.' Ah, but that is a dangerous pattern."
In answer to questions regarding the future of India, Tagore predicted the conquest of Mohammedanism over his own religion of Hinduism. "It is possible," he said, "that Hinduism may be a religion of the past before many years, and the inhabitants of India converted to Islam by force. And who knows but that it might be a good thing for India if the Mohammedans were to overrun it again?"
"Hinduism is a religion of pacifism, while the teachings of Mohammed transform even our peaceful Hindus into fanatics with a lust to fight. Even now Mohammedanism is spreading rapidly in India. The latest figures show that there are more Mohammedans here in Bengal today than there are Hindus. So, if the government falls into the hands of the Indian people, it probably will mean Mohammedan rule again. But even that would be preferable to the present government, because it would be government by our own kindred."

SAYS RUSSIAN CZAR IS ALIVE AND IN HIDING IN JAPAN
Women Confidante Of Empress Dowager Says Tale Of Butchery Is False
San Francisco—Nicholas, czar of all the Russians, is alive—a prisoner in Japan of his own desire.
Intrenched behind garden walls and thick-foliaged trees—using as protective camouflage the modesty of the house he has selected—the former ruler has found refuge in the orient.
From Madame Euxenia Gaevsky, little old white-haired lady, who makes her living here teaching languages and acting interpreter to her fellow Russians, comes this report.
"STORY ROUSES INTEREST"
Her affirmative story has caused a ripple in international circles, and temporarily set aside sinister tales of butchery of the Romanoff royal family in the prison castle of Ekaterinburg, July 17, 1918.
Likewise it follows close on the heels of a counter narrative, supposedly issued by the Bolshevik government, to the effect that Nicholas is not only dead but his severed head is now a curiosity, preserved in alcohol, in a Russian museum.
But such accounts have not shaken Madame Gaevsky's faith.
Once an intimate of those moving in the inner circles of Russian society, and knowing well the nobility whose names were synonymous with the power of the old regime, she persists in belief of her story.
"It is indeed true," she stoutly maintains. "The little father is alive."
"LIVES HIDDEN LIFE"
"Those of unquestionable veracity have told me they have seen him. 'His life? Of that they cannot tell. None but his closest intimates know of that. Even his neighbors know him only as a man who shrouds himself in 'inconspicuousness, who shrinks from contact with the street, who is, perhaps, a little queer, a bit feeble minded.'"
"But long before these people told me they had seen the czar, I knew that he had made his escape to Japan.

"In 1918, I first heard it, direct from those who heard it from the dowager empress herself."
Whether a myth fathered by wish, or a true high light in historical romance, belief in the escape of the czar is held by many of the Russian refugees here, says Madame Gaevsky.
"Imperialists were busy during the days when the 'little father' and his family were prisoners of the soviet. Royalist spies penetrated into the Red councils and carried back reports to their superiors, the chiefs of the plotters," she relates.
"ESCAPED BY RUSE."
"One night as the imperial family sat with their meditations on what the future might hold, the door opened, and a small group of peasants entered. 'Peasants in dress, but no deportment.' With all the grace of the court, they saluted the czar.
"They told him of the plot. He was to escape in the dress of a peasant, while one of their number, very similar in face, figure and carriage of the czar, was to stay behind in his place to avoid pursuit.
"The czar demurred. He would not allow the sacrifice, nor would he desert his family.
"The conspirators apparently were prepared for this, for and without unnecessary disturbance they forcibly garbed him in peasant attire and spirited him away.
"Only a few days later until the pseudo czar and the four members of the royal family were led to their death in the cellar of the fortress.
"How it was managed, I have never heard," says Madame Gaevsky. "Perhaps the guard that night was loyal to the imperial house, maybe he was bribed, maybe vodka. But I go home, my dear friends, and he and the Grand Duchess Titianna escaped. The grand duchess fled with her soldier husband earlier in the revolution."

KELLER ANSWERS CRITICS IN TALK TO BIG AUDIENCE

Candidate for Mayor Says Address Is Protest Against Attacks

Refuting charges made against his war record, Gustave Keller, former postmaster and candidate for mayor, spoke to a large audience in the first political address of the spring campaign Tuesday evening at the Fourth district school building. He stated his position on municipal affairs and said he was for an administrative form of government that embodied all the essential points of the commission form and managerial form.

"From the primary election returns some of you may think I am presumptuous," he said. "For me to address you as friends for I am frank to confess I got a fine 'trimming' in the Fourth ward, 97 to 503, but that does not determine the question of friendship. I am willing to believe I have some real friends here who wanted to save me from getting into trouble. I want to say this, my friends, that I did not push myself forward as a candidate for this office. I didn't look for it. I was no ambition of mine. When I was waited upon I did not look for someone else. A week before the primary they came to me and said we cannot afford to let the office of mayor go by default and not know who is going into the office. Later another candidate announced himself."

FIGHTS FOR HIS NAME
"I am in the fight. I am not over here tonight looking for votes, but I am over here for a purpose. For I want to tell you there are things in this life more valuable than office; things in this world more valuable than all the wealth the world contains and that is a good name. I came to the Fourth ward for a purpose, because I have always looked upon this ward as a ward where I have friends, a ward where I have friends that grew up with me and worked with me in many ways. My visit here is not so much a question of votes as it is a protest against underhanded attacks."

"My record is open as to the war. I did my duty as I saw it and I tried to the best of my judgment to stand with the boys from the time they started across until they came back. I recognized my duty to my country."

REFUTES CHARGES
Mr. Keller then discussed and answered the various charges, one by one, circulated against him during the campaign which included one that he purchased an automobile with funds that belonged to the war chest. To refute this he read a printed statement signed by H. E. Bradford, A. E. Foster, Joseph D. Steele, William Fountain, J. P. Frank and P. H. Ryan showing they were instrumental in raising the funds by private subscription and presented him with the automobile in recognition of the public service he had rendered and that he had no intimation of it until the car was turned over to him.

Another report circulated, "said Mr. Keller, 'that I lack experience. They didn't tell you, of course, I was in the council six years, during which time I served as president of the council, chairman of the board of public works, chairman of the street committee at a time when the improvement of streets was begun, and a member of the finance committee. Mr. Keller said he was on the library board, served as postmaster and was a member of the board of regents of the state university."

"Now what is the program? I have outlined no particular platform. I have some ideas about city government. I am going to try and bring about close operation between the mayor and aldermen. I am going to work with the aldermen and I am going to try and have them work with me."

"I propose to elected to make the heads of the various departments the members of my cabinet. I will counsel with individual citizens and with groups of citizens and will encourage all civic societies. I am going to consult those organizations and see what they want. The door of the mayor's office will be open to all and everyone will get a respectful hearing. 'No clique of men or no single man will run me if I am elected. It will be by aim to hold down taxes to a reasonable minimum.'"

The speaker gave the audience an opportunity to ask him questions, but none was put to him.

Approach God With Proper Attitude To Understand Him

This sermon was prepared by the Rev. E. W. Wright, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church, for The Post-Crescent.

There is a comfortable relief from all the troubled agitation over religious matters, if we approach such agitation with a big enough religion. Some persons worry much over the doctrine of Divine providence. "It is not tyranny over the human will," they ask. "If God were a small tyrant God, his providence would be tyranny. If he is a mighty power, the source of all power that is, a being of love and mercy, his providence cannot be a tyranny. It becomes a deliverance from many earthly tyrannies of circumstance and chance, which else were unendurable. So with problem after problem that messes for children in the reading; they are troublesome only because the man holding them has a shriveled, unwholesome, or biased and unscriptural view of the Father Almighty. Dealing with sinners or thinkers with spiritual difficulties, this general principle holds: 'Given a big enough God, the teachings of his religion become beneficent, lovable and admirable.'"

We immediately come to a sharp question in this connection. The question has to do with a man's approach to God; it is this: "Does the average man approach God with a reasonable attitude of mind?" Dealing with men, or even with animals, or inanimate things, we find that we can understand them only as we come to them with sympathy and warm-hearted interest. The person who has a kindness for children can always understand them. The person who has no such fondness never can. Even the criminal in court is considered to be wronged by the processes of justice, if unfriendliness is shown him by court, jury or spectators. Those who have fostered an unfriendly criticism of religion have this responsibility. Whether or not they have been right in their decisions on minor religious problems, in displaying and encouraging the suspicion of a critical investigation devoid of sympathy, they have blinded men and worked in the direction of practical atheism. The man who angrily demands answers from God gets none; the man who trusts in patient filial love, gets more than answers; the Father redeems his promise that he will "come and abide with him."

The "difficulties of religion" called logical, are generally born of the heart, and not of the mind. The channels for final and comforting decisions are in generous impulse toward God and man, true neighborliness, acquiescence toward good, willingness toward virtue and holiness. When a man gives up a bad habit, if it is his principal bad habit, he finds his hand reaching out for his hat at church time on Sunday.

Approaching God in this spirit of good-will, our hearts discover Him as a person. To refer to Him as a "great first cause" becomes all at once inadequate. We will not endure a mere first-cause-God, we perceive him a constant cause, and feel our lips voicing a definition from the world's truest philosophy: "The Lord is My Shepherd." We find that in trying to simplify our thoughts by making him a force of nature, we have complicated every difficulty. We made a mechanical necessity, called materialism, and substituting it for a God of Providence, we four ourselves under necessity of denying ourselves personality or freedom of wish or act. A man has no personality in any real sense, until he learns to approach God as a person, and so worship him.

In Jesus Christ, God speaks with human reasonableness and is easily understood. We know then that God is not Blind Force, but a friend who loves. At once we find his ways just, his promises faithful, his cause precious. His supreme sovereignty becomes a comfort, instead of a "problem."

Such a God is needed at the center of all thought and action. Good men who are trying to better the world in their own strength need to refresh themselves in the thought of him. Weak men need to find purpose and constancy in him. Evil men need to find forgiveness and new ideals in him. The Church needs to find new power in him. Starting from clear, true thought of him, men will find a new light on all problems. Too long we have toiled in God's world, with God himself left to our mere afterthoughts. May this season of the year bring men to a new loyalty and a deeper faith in a God who is Father.

BEG PARDON

The safety record of the Niagara papermill of Kimberly-Clark company is 97,800 man days without an accident instead of 17,800 as reported in Tuesday's Post-Crescent. The Kimberly mill with 67,000 man days is trying to beat the 97,800 record.

Monthly Stock Fair
Saturday is monthly fair day, but the indications are the attendance will be small owing to the condition of the roads. It is possible a few young pigs will be offered for sale, but it doubtful if any outside buyers will be on the ground.

Why Pay the Penalty of Lying Awake?

MANY people spend hours at night, restlessly tossing from side to side, waiting for sleep. All because they drink coffee with their evening meal.

If the caffeine in coffee irritates your nervous system and keeps you awake when you should be asleep, recuperating your energies, why not stop coffee and drink Postum?

Postum is a pure cereal beverage, absolutely free from caffeine or anything that can disturb health and comfort. Many prefer Postum for its delightful aroma and flavor.

If you want to know the truth, change to Postum for a month or so, and see how much better you will sleep and feel.

Postum

for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.
